Portrait of Mr. WILLIAM HARBORNE, of 6 Railway Road, Perry Barr, Birmingham, who writes:—

About two years ago I met with rather a bad accident. I was a conductor on the City Tramways, and whilst getting in my fares one day the car was pulled up quickly, and I was pitched sideways on to the floor. I was cut severely, and I had to have it stitched at the Hospital. This caused me six weeks' absence from work, and after resuming my duties for one week I took out all over my body with bugs Boils. Again I went to the hospital, and was treated for Blood Poisoning; this happened on three successive occasions, until I began to think I should never get rid of them. Then I saw Clarke's Blood Mixture advertised, and the first bottle of two seemed to be driving out the poisons, as I perspired freely, and after taking two bottles I was cured. It is now over twelve months since I took your Clarke's Blood Mixture and I have seen no signs of any further blood disorder.

Clarke's Blood Mixture, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in the case of Eczema, Scrofula, Scurvy, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Boils, Pimples, Sores, Ulcerations, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Gout, Pain, Want to feel clean and free from anything injurious. ANGLING.

WATERVILLE—During the latter part of last week the easterly wind was mostly against our fishing on the boughs but there has been an improvement this week, and some good sport was obtained. Those following were the best one-day catches:—On Lough Currane—Mr. Dunne a peal of 6lb., four sea trout, and six brown trout in one day, and four sea trout and ten brown trout, an olive and a black and seven brown trout on others; Mr. Atkins, ten sea trout was his best day's take (total weight about 20lb.), 25lb.); ten sea trout (average 2lb. each) and seven brown trout, some of which weighed over 1lb., on another. Mr. R. S. Hugrand had seventeen sea trout and eight brown trout, while Mr. Routledge had eight brown trout. On Lough Namona one day Colonel Taylor caught fifty brown trout, several weighing over 1lb. each, and the sport on Loughs Berrisna, Cloonaghin, and Naiska with brown trout was also good. Sea trout were now beginning to put in an appearance in goodly numbers on all these celebrated waters, and sea angling continues to be very good. Several parties of ladies are staying at the Currane Hotel, and a trifle high, fresh fishing was taken in the surrounding Sligo is especially good; some boats catching up to 30 fish. One boat brought in 22, the total weighing about 45lbs. It is worthy of notice that in the Currane salmon is much larger this year, and, of course, a great deal heavier than usual.

THE FERGUS.—Owing to the low water just now fishing is practically at a standstill. During the week only two salmon were killed. Mr. John Kerin landing a nice 13-pounder and another of 8lbs., and in addition he killed two peal of 34lbs. and 35lbs. There are indications of a good run of peal. The net fishermen in the lower river had much success lately. Some trout of a small size were taken.

THE CORRIB.—Angling on the Corrib has been good within the past few days. Last week 76 salmon were killed, and on Monday 26 fine peal were captured by four rods. The average weight was 6lbs. The water at the Corrib is perfect for fishing. On the Clare-Galway river Mr. R. Joyce and other anglers killed several fine fish.

NORTH OF IRELAND.—This week better weather conditions prevailed, but most of the rivers were too low and clear for the best possible results. However, there was better sport to chronicle everywhere. The evening rise—the best period for trout fishing—is now in full swing, and on such waters as the Mourne, Roe, Faughan, Erne, tributaries of the Bann, and the lakes generally, there are no better lures than the White Moth, Coachman, and White Palmer. These, when fished over the still deeps, should kill on any of the Ulster rivers. The Green Drake rise has not been so big as usual, and, all round, sport has not been so good as one would have expected. On the Cavan and Westmeath lakes heavy baskets were got immediately after the rise began, but they tailed off considerably in the past week, and at time of writing "dapping" on many waters is practically over. The Bann is yet too high for Salmon fishing, it having fallen only 13 inches in the past week. It is expected that by the end of this week it will be in good enough order. Plenty of salmon are going up the river, but they are inclined to push on to Lough Neagh, en route to the Moyola, Maine, Blackwater, Ballinderry, and other feeders of the Lough. The Cutts fishery, Coleraine—the famed Salmon Leap—is getting very large catches, some of the finest for years. Grilse will soon be due, and as these run very thickly in the latter end of June and the beginning of July, there should be fine sport to chronicle on the Carnroe, Movanagher, and Kilrea waters, which embrace the pick of the rod fishing on the Bann. On the Kilrea water Mr. Rasberry's—Mr. Harry Diamond, who is in charge, killed seven salmon, heaviest 15lbs., six on the minnow and one on the fly. Trout are rising poorly, there being far too much bottom feeding. Once the stone fly comes on there should be good baskets going. Yesterday the river stood at 5 ft. 9 in. It fishes well at 9 ft. Trout fishing on the feeders is poor, they being on the low side, although some baskets are being got daily on the Agivey, Macosquin, Moyola, Ballinderry, etc. Off the coast, the nets are taking large numbers of salmon, the runs having been off the coast for some time.

WEST OF IRELAND—The rivers of the West are lacking water in most parts of the province, and a few days rain is badly needed, not only to freshen up the rivers and put them into ply, but to bring up fresh run salmon and the grilse which are now due in the majority of the waters. On the 1st prox., the last river in Ireland—the Carrownisky—opens. This river is a very good late salmon river, and fishes best after a heavy flood, it being quick-running and speedily emptied. The season remains open till the end of October. The Corrib is giving very good sport, considering the weather conditions, and, with a little more rain, the peal fishing should be in full swing. July and August are amongst the best peal months of the year, the big runs being then well on as a rule, and not too much water to keep them from settling down. Efforts are being made in the West to add to the supply of coarse fish in the Irish markets, these not being much eaten in Ireland, save eels, in the West there are numerous lakes holding immense quantities of perch, pike, and eels, some tench, roach, and other coarse fish. The question of transport, however, is a very important one, the facilities being much below the requirements, and very inferior to those of the North, where the natural creative spirit of the people has worked wonders, most of the great fishing centres being now excellently well supplied with both land and sea transport.

Information as to Fishing Centres in Ireland will be found in our Hotel Advertising Columns, and under the heading "Shooting, Fishing, etc.," on the last page of this paper.

Dean Kelly's Death.—At Athlone Petty Sessions Court yesterday Mr. J. J. Coen, J.P., moved the adjournment of the Court as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Dean Kelly. Mr. John Burgess, Mr. J. P. Byrne, R.M., and Mr. H. J. Walker, solicitor, joined in the tribute, and the Court adjourned.

The Speed of Motor Cars.—The Athy Urban Council, at a meeting on Monday night, decided to ask the County Council to make a by-law regulating the speed of motor cars. Four were in the Connaught Rangers, two in the Royal Irish Fusiliers, and one in the Royal Irish Rifles. Their mother is a widow.

A Doctor's Appointment.—The action of the Local Government Board in declining to sanction, either temporarily or permanently, the appointment of Dr. F. Stokes (the well-known international Rugby football player) to the position of medical officer of Fulhard Dispensary District was the subject of discussion at Cashel Guardians' meeting. A resolution was passed calling on the Chief Secretary to direct the Local Government Board to issue even a belated sanction, and asking Mr. J. DUBLIN AND DISTRICT.

Sinn Fein Flags.—The profuse displays of Sinn Fein flags in Dublin during the past few days and nights prompted an inquiry as to where they all came from. The replies to such a question in several cases pointed to the existence of a little flag factory somewhere in the city, but none of the "flag-waggera" would go the length of indicating where it was to be found. The "factory" must have been working overtime lately if its output is to be estimated by the wealth of tri-coloured emblems seen recently on the streets of Dublin and in the suburbs.

Licensed Trade Deputation.—A deputation of the Licensed Grocers' and Vintners' Association, consisting of Messrs. John Conroy, Pierce Ryan, J. Walters, and M. O'Byrne, who had been in London with regard to the liquor trade restrictions, arrived at Kingstown last night.

It appeared that on Saturday, the 16th inst., as the boy was playing in the street, his clothes caught fire. He was badly burnt about the chest and head. He was taken to the Children's Hospital, where he died on Monday from the shock of his injury. The jury's verdict was to this effect.

New D.M.P. Inspector.—Station Sergeant Thomas Crosbie has been promoted to the rank of Inspector in the Dublin Metropolitan Police, and appointed to the vacancy in the C Division caused by the death of Inspector Mills. Apologies for non-attendance were received from Rev. J. O. Gage Dougherty, M.A.; Mrs. Gage Dougherty, Philip G. Fry, Esq.; Mrs. S. H. Higginbotham, R. H. A. M'Comas, Esq., J.P.; Captain R. Wade Thompson, D.L., J.P., and Mrs. F. M'Clure Williams.

The proceedings of the last meeting of the Board were read, confirmed, and signed.

Lady O'Connell, Miss Margaret E. Mooney, A. Chisholm Cameron, Esq., and Joseph Ward, Esq., J.P., having kindly consented to act, were appointed Visiting Governors for the month.

The following sums were handed in to the Chairman and are gratefully acknowledged:—Joseph Ward, Esq., J.P. (Life Governor), £21. Qualifying as Life Governor his daughter, Miss Annette Ward. Rent and Sewell Bewley, Esq., £21, for Life Governorship (per Francis Bewley, Esq.).

The Chairman made the gratifying announcement that he had received a payment of £21 from Richard L. Pennefather, Esq., J.P., being a subscription of £5 5s. each from his four sons, Masters R. Kingsmill, Edward W., George Lionel, and Arthur Pennefather, qualifying them as Governors of the Hospital for one year.

The Chairman made an appeal to the Governors and friends of the Hospital to assist in filling up-to-date books, novels, etc., for the use of the patients. Parcels addressed to the Lady Superintendent will be thankfully received.

The Chairman also referred to the heavy overdraft at the bank, £5,526 5s. 9d., and he made an urgent appeal for funds to aid in its reduction.

The next meeting will be the annual meeting and will be held at the Hospital on Wednesday, July 11th, at 4 o'clock p.m. The new report will be published and an interesting account will be given of the work accomplished during the year.

Relative to the treatment and housing of discharged soldiers and sailors who had contracted incurable diseases as a result of the war, the Chairman said he had attended a meeting of the Joint Disablement Committee appointed to deal with cases of disabled soldiers and sailors as reported in Monday's papers, and stated that as no accommodation could be arranged for these men in this Hospital, he trusted that they would be received into that area fixed for in the new hospital which was being opened at Marlborough Hall, Drumcondra—Marlborough Hall, situated in beautiful grounds, away from the city, offered an ideal home for incurable men, and he had seen by the circulars issued that the Joint Committee had so far respectfully suggested to those in charge that a portion of the house might be reserved for incurable soldiers and sailors. The Chairman wished to emphasise that, as far as the Royal Hospital for Incurables was concerned, the question of its removal, the number of civilian applications not admitted for lack of accommodation, combined with the fact that no pecuniary advancements with the Government can be made (it being a hospital in which the patients under the Charter are maintained without fee or reward), rendered it impossible for the Governors to take in incurable soldiers and sailors who from time to time presented themselves for admission; but the opening of this new hospital at Drumcondra appeared to provide a solution of the difficulty, and would prevent our brave soldiers and sailors from being sent to the County Infirmary or Workhouse Hospital that might be nearest to their own homes.

The election of patients was then proceeded with. Sixteen names appeared on the list, and eighteen candidates were in attendance. All the absentees were certified by the visiting medical officer, Dr. Frederick Hall, as unable to attend. One of the candidates, a poor woman suffering from cancer, died since the list was printed. The following, having obtained the highest number of votes, were declared duly elected patients—five for immediate admission to the wards, and two to remain out on a weekly allowance from the funds, pending further vacancies in the hospital, viz.:—Marion Ellen Wallace, spinster; Rebecca Knowles, spinster; Maria Thorpe, rheumatoid arthritis; Kate Freeman, rheumatoid arthritis; Mary Hanlon, cancer; Anna Frances Duncan, heart disease and partial paralysis; Elizabeth Free, rheumatoid arthritis.

The Board adjourned to Tuesday, August 21st, 1917, when an election for male patients will take place.

The Board tender their grateful thanks for the following kind contributions:—£3, John Rafter, Esq.; £1 10s., Arthur H. S. Orpen, Esq.; Miss Alice Nadin, Colonel Charles H. Swayne, R.A.M.C., Lady Mabel Fitzgerald; £1 each, Miss J. E. Moses, Thomas Rafter, Esq., Gerard Rafter, Esq., Miss Fannie Andrews; 10/- each, Rev. R. F. Colahan, P.P., C. M'Loughlin, Esq., Miss A. L. Newsom.

Further subscriptions are needed to reduce the large amount due to the bank, and will be gratefully received by Sir William Fry, D.L., J.P., Chairman; Wilton House, Merrion road; William Perrin, Vice-Chairman, Rocklands, Stillorgan; Alfred G. Hollinshead, Esq., J.P., Treasurer, The Haven, Palmerston Gardens, Rathmines; or by the Registrar at the Hospital.

Mr. O'Grady, M.P., and Mr. Saunders, who, with Mr. Will Thorne, M.P., recently spent a mission to Petrograd, were received by the King yesterday.

Irish Definitions.

The National Convention is at hand, and Unionists are asked to co-operate with Nationalists in a sincere effort to achieve a settlement of Irish affairs. They will do their best, and they have exacted no conditions. Nevertheless, the eve of the Convention finds them possessed with doubts and fears which Nationalists who really desire agreement should be anxious to satisfy and dispel. In particular, we invite a frank and authoritative answer to this question: What is the attitude of the great body of Irish Nationalists to the Irish extremists—the people who seek to secure complete independence for this country? The question is not intended to irritate; it has been made necessary by the events of the last two days. The men who fought for Germany in Ireland more than a year ago had an almost civic reception in Dublin on Monday, after their release from prison by the astonishing clemency of the British Government. Thousands of citizens welcomed them at the railway station. We do not ask how the released men regard the Convention or what part they propose to take now in Irish politics. We want to know, however—for it is a very important matter—what the average Nationalist thinks about the past conduct of these men. Is it still to be reprehended with the saving clause that they were impelled to the ruin of half Dublin by their sincere love of Ireland? Nationalist newspapers have treated the return of the released rebels with an unreserved cordiality. The men have been "interviewed," and their resistance to prison discipline in England has been described with chuckling appreciation. Unionists can draw only two inferences from these things. One is that Nationalist public opinion really regards sedition, and presumably will continue to regard it, as a romantic and almost pardonable faux pas. The other is that it has not yet arrived in its own mind at any clear perception of the duties of Irishmen to the Crown and the Empire—that, in fact, it is suffering in this vital matter from a very dangerous confusion and laxity of thought.

If Unionists are to meet Nationalists at the Convention in any real spirit of sympathy and agreement, it is high time that Nationalist Ireland should define its attitude to the policy of the extremists, should find clear convictions on the subject, and should not be afraid to act upon them. We assume that a large majority of Nationalists want a good scheme of self-government for Ireland within the Empire, want England and her Allies to win the war, and honour the loyalty and bravery of the Irish soldiers who are helping to win the war. What, then, are their answers to these questions: Was the Rebellion an act of infamous treachery to Ireland and the Empire? What good did it achieve for Ireland? The official Nationalist Press dwells now upon Germany's ingratitude to the rebels who spoke in their Proclamation of their "gallant allies in Europe." Germany was to have established Ireland as a great and independent nation. The German Socialists at Stockholm now invite the Socialists of Ireland, Tripoli, Korea, Tibet, and other small countries to work out their own freedom; and if that cold comfort is all that rebel Ireland gets from German democrats, what has she to expect from the Kaiser's bureaucracy? The Freeman's Journal points this moral with excellent sense, and insists that the hope of the Irish democracy, and of all democracies, is "bound up with the cause of the Allies." Irish Unionists will agree heartily, but they will still ask: What is Nationalist Ireland's real attitude to the Irishmen who fought for Germany? If Ireland's cause is identical with the Allies' cause, how was it possible for the de facto leader of the Nationalist Party to boast that he had never stood, and never would stand, on a recruiting platform? If these rebels have pursued a wicked and disloyal policy at the cost of untold shame and suffering to Ireland, why do they get such a reception from Nationalist Dublin, as has never been given to an Irish regiment returning victoriously from a righteous war?

Irish Unionists ask these questions now because they are heartily anxious to work for the peace of Ireland with all Nationalists who recognise the justice of the Empire's war and the privileges and responsibilities of Ireland's place in the Empire. They are bound to hesitate so long as they are unable to gauge the general Nationalist attitude to the Empire's enemies in Ireland. Let us take a concrete case. The Nationalist seat in East Clare has been made vacant by the death of one of the best Nationalists and bravest Irishmen who ever wore the King's uniform. The Nationalist candidate will be Mr. Patrick Lynch, K.C. He will be opposed by Mr. Edward de Valera, one of the just released leaders of the Rebellion. We do not know whether there are many Unionist voters in East Clare; but, few or many as they may be, it will be the duty of every one of them, at any cost of time or convenience, to record his vote for Mr. Lynch. That is the least tribute that they can pay to the memory of Major William Redmond. We are convinced, however, that the Unionists—and, perhaps, many Nationalists—in East Clare would be encouraged in their duty by a clear expression of the views of the Nationalist Party, the Nationalist Press, and the Roman Catholic Church on the relative services to Ireland of the dead soldier and the released rebel. Colonel Maurice Moore wrote last week, in a eulogy of Major Redmond, that "Ireland will grieve over his loss as sorrowfully as she does over Pearse and O'Rahilly." Is this muddle-headed sentimentality prevalent to-day in the Ireland that contemplates settlement within the Empire? Captain Gwynn, M.P., has corrected it by pointing out that Patrick Pearse brought civil war and hatred to Ireland, while Major Redmond gave his body to bridge the gulf. Irish Unionists wish to be told whether, for the majority of Nationalists, Patrick Pearse or William Redmond represents the national ideals of loyalty and service. It is a legitimate question, and they are entitled to a clear answer.

British Princes and German Titles.

The King has taken an unprecedented step in order to mark in the most formal manner the dissociation of the Royal Family from the Courts of the German Empire. A Bill is at present before the House of Lords which proposes to deprive of their dignities and titles, as Peers of the United Kingdom or British Princes, any persons who have borne arms in the war against the King or adhered to his enemies. In this class the chief figure is the Duke of Brunswick-Lüneburg, who is Duke of Cumberland and Teviotdale in the Peerage of the United Kingdom. Distinguished from this class, however, there is another—British Princes, the most loyal of the King's subjects, who bear German names and titles. The King has now "deemed it desirable that, in the conditions brought about by the present war, those Princes of his family who are his subjects and bear German names and titles should relinquish these titles and henceforth adopt British surnames." Consequent upon this decision, Peerages of the United Kingdom have been conferred upon the Princes concerned. The Duke of Teck will in future be a Marquis, and Prince Alexander of Teck an Earl, while Prince Louis and Prince Alexander of Battenberg will both become Marquises. They will thus exchange foreign princely titles for British patents of nobility. There is no precedent for such a remarkable change in Royal status, and the King's decision to effect it is a use of his prerogative which will be cordially welcomed. It means, of course, a breach with convention which would only be possible in these revolutionary days. Nothing in international politics is stronger than what has been called the "trade union of Kings," and the fact that the King of Great Britain and Ireland has made this innovation is sufficient proof that the Crown is not out of touch with the spirit of the time. His Majesty's act is suggestive of the social relations which are likely to subsist in the future between Great Britain and Germany. If the Royal Family, with its network of international ramifications sanctioned by traditional usage, is inspired to break these potent bonds, and thus emphatically divest itself of its German associations, what are likely to be the social relations between the plain people of the two countries who have no stronger relationship than that of trade and occasional travel? The King's act is a warning to Germany that she may find herself long after the war utterly without the pale of civilised peoples. Nowhere more than in Germany are titles held in veneration. The fact that British Princes should have renounced their princely rank along with their German titles, and accepted the status of British Peers, will compel thoughtful Germans to realise the intensity of the national spirit which informs the sacrifice.

Vanished Birds.

The winter of 1916-17 was probably the most severe in Ireland during the last fifty years. Its effect on bird life has been so disastrous that in parts of the country several resident species have been exterminated. Mr. C. B. Moffat, the well-known ornithologist, writing in the Irish Naturalist, deals particularly with that district (County Wexford) in which he resides. Mr. Moffat has followed the track of the great snowstorm of last December and January which swept across Ireland in a diagonal belt from N.W. to S.E., embracing in its icy grasp the counties of East Mayo, Roscommon, Carlow, Wexford, Kilkenny, South Tipperary, Waterford, and East Cork. The rest of Ireland was at the time frost-bound, but there was still a large area on either side of the snow-belt which offered a chance of survival to those birds whose instinct suggested a timely retreat. The increased competition, however, brought about an inevitable shortage of food, and there can be little doubt that both residents and invaders were seriously affected. There may have been instances (as in 1881) when the snow measured an equal, or even a greater, depth, but rarely has it remained on the ground for so long a period. In December the song-thrush suffered severely. The blackbirds, having a hardier constitution, held on until a week after the coming of the snow, when the casualties became very heavy. These birds are, happily, not among the number of exterminated species enumerated by Mr. Moffat. The five species which were destroyed in part of County Wexford were the stone-chat, golden-crested wren, long-tailed titmouse, grey wagtail, and meadow pipit. All these were previously common birds, and were with us in numbers not greatly below their usual winter strength until the snow-storm swept them away.

SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' VOTES.

IMPORTANT GOVERNMENT DECISION.

At a meeting that the service members of Parliament held at the House of Commons yesterday, Colonel Sanders presiding, it was announced that the Government had come to an important decision on the question of soldiers' and sailors' votes. Clause 5 of the Representation of the People Bill, which provides for the registration of persons on war service who would have had the necessary qualification but for the war, will be withdrawn, and provision made instead for the placing of the names of all soldiers and sailors on the Absent Voters' List. They will be allowed to vote either for the place at which they enlisted or (if in the United Kingdom) for the constituency in which they are stationed. The new proposals of the Government were approved by the meeting as giving substantially what the Committee of Service members had been asking, but it was suggested an amendment should be moved providing that, in the case of men voting where they were stationed, three months' qualification should be necessary.

GERMAN TITLES RENOUNCED.

We are officially informed that the King has deemed it desirable in the conditions brought about by the present war that those princes of his family who are his subjects and bear German names and titles should relinquish these titles and henceforth adopt British surnames. At the same time, and consequent upon the decision, His Majesty has been graciously pleased to confer Peerages of the United Kingdom on the following:—

Duke of Teck, a marquis; Prince Alexander of Teck, an earl; Prince Louis of Battenberg, a marquis; Prince Alexander of Battenberg, a marquis.

The Court Circular contains the following:—The King has been pleased to direct that, Royal Warrants shall be prepared declaring that Their Highnesses Princess Victoria and Princess Marie Louise of Schleswig-Holstein shall henceforth be styled and entitled Princess Victoria Helena Victoria and Princess Marie Louise respectively; and whereas the Princesses of the Royal Family who bear the title of Duchess of Saxony, and who are subjects, have, Royal Majesty's desire, relinquished the said title, he has also been pleased to direct that Royal Warrants shall be prepared declaring their present styles, and making such corresponding alteration in their arms as may be necessary.

THE POTATO BLIGHT.

A WARNING.

Reports have reached the Department of Agriculture of the occurrence of potato blight in such widely separated centres as King's County, Waterford, Kerry, and Galway. So far, the existence of the disease is confined to limited areas, and to a large extent to the earlier varieties; but weather conditions at present experienced in all parts of the country is especially conducive to the spread of the blight, and if proper precautions are not immediately taken to check its development serious injury may result within a very short time. In view of this, too much emphasis cannot be laid upon the necessity for prompt and thorough spraying of the potato crop when the growth is sufficiently forward to warrant the operation. No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to the date upon which potatoes should be sprayed, but, speaking generally, it may be stated that the operation should be performed when the tops are about twelve inches high. In many districts it is the custom to defer spraying until the first spots of the disease are noticed, but this is a mistake; the best results are obtained where the crop is sprayed before the disease manifests itself. Detailed instructions as to the spraying materials to be used, and how they should be prepared and applied, are given in a special leaflet on the subject, of which copies can be obtained free on application to the Secretary of the Department, Upper Merrion street, Dublin.

SPANISH POTATOES FOR LONDON MARKET.

Spanish potatoes will shortly be on the market. They have been shipped under an arrangement made by the Ministry of Food, who have appointed Messrs. W. Dennis and Sons, Ltd., of Covent Garden market, as agents to receive and distribute them. Messrs. Dennis have placed their services at the disposal of the Ministry without remuneration, and inquiries with regard to these potatoes may be addressed to them direct.

BELFAST BANK AMALGAMATION.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

BELFAST, TUESDAY.

The decision of the directors of the Belfast Banking Company to invite their shareholders to agree to an amalgamation with the London City and Midland Bank is cordially approved by the business men of Belfast and the North of Ireland, and it is generally anticipated that the shareholders will agree to the proposal. It is recognised that the close co-operation between the two banking concerns will not only be mutually advantageous, but will be of considerable benefit to the business community in Ireland, and in Belfast and the North in particular. The fact that the Belfast bank will retain its identity, its directors and staff, who are in close touch with the requirements of the commercial community, is regarded as one of the best features of the scheme. The Belfast bank, by the amalgamation, will have at its disposal to a considerable extent the enormous resources of the largest joint stock bank in the United Kingdom, and this will play, no doubt, an important part in industrial development in Ireland, and particularly in Ulster, after the war.

The Belfast Banking Company has been in existence for a period of ninety years. It was established on the 2nd July, 1827, and the head office is situated in Waring street, on the site formerly occupied by the old Exchange. It was as this Exchange that the trial of Henry Joy M'Cracken took place in 1798.

The Belfast bank shares were sold to-day on the Belfast Stock Exchange at 11½ for the old shares and 4½ for the new. The last quotations were 9¾ for the old and 3¾ for the new shares.

DUBLIN ENGINEERS' DISPUTE.

The proceedings in reference to the members of the A.S.E. employed on railways having their termini in Dublin were continued yesterday, Sir R. Lodge again presiding. It is understood that negotiations are still proceeding, and that the Railway Executive is to put forward new proposals for the consideration of the men. If that is accepted, it is anticipated the dispute will be at an end.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
TUESDAY NIGHT.

The decision of the King that members of his family with foreign names and titles shall in future have British names and titles will be generally welcomed. There was something anomalous in the fact that several people near the Throne should have only German names to bear. By the decision of the King there will in time be no Princes and Princesses other than the children and grandchildren of the Sovereign in the male line. The Duke of Connaught and his son are both Royal Highnesses, but the son of Prince Arthur of Connaught is simply the Marquis of Macduff, and in time he will be Duke of Connaught, but not His Royal Highness or Highness. The elder son of Princess Beatrice, who is to be the Marquis of Mountbatten, will no longer be His Highness, and his brother, Prince Leopold, will bear the style and title of a younger son, a Marquis. Prince Louis of Battenberg is to be created a Marquis. He has been a naturalised subject of the King for nearly fifty years, and has rendered great service in the Navy. As a Peer he should do useful service again in the House of Lords, where his naval experience might be most valuable. His wife, a grand-daughter of Queen Victoria, is the daughter of a reigning Prince, and consequently retains her style as Grand Ducal Highness, but the children of her marriage will rank as children of a Marquis. In these days of democracy this simplification of styles and titles will do much to show that the Crown can move with the times.

Sir Douglas Haig is fifty-six to-day, and best birthday wishes will go out to him from everybody in the country. He has done much to maintain the British prestige, and incidentally to sustain the spirits. Over and over again his cheery reports and speeches have come just in time to cheer us all up when there were fears that things were not going so well as they might. The despatch from the Commander-in-Chief which appears in the Gazette to-night will be read with great interest. It gives a full and consecutive account of the activities of the British Army in France during the winter which paved the way for the recent great advance. The cool and measured narrative will increase the confidence that the public has a right to feel in the great soldier now in command, who, without haste, without rest, plans and executes his well thought-out schemes for the delivery of Northern France from its invaders. Warfare in such conditions must be slow, but by such methods victory is assured.

Mr. Balfour was greeted with cheers from all parts of the House when he rose to answer the first question on Order Paper. He looked bronzed and well, and had evidently lost none of his ability to put off importune questions. Neither Mr. King nor Mr. Lynch could induce him to add to the account of his mission to the United States that had already appeared in the Press, and Mr. Gimnell, who rudely inquired whether this meant that the policy of trusting the people had been abandoned, received a very short answer. The Foreign Secretary, however, took the opportunity of reiterating his thanks to the American Government and people for the cordial welcome and the great hospitality they had accorded to himself on his mission. He refused, however, to discuss the steps that the United States Government was taking in regard to the war, beyond saying that the House might rest assured that it was fully alive to the necessity of putting a stop to trading with the enemy. Mr. Lynch made several attempts to ventilate his Republican principles, but, among other things, he inquired whether his recent speech in reply to General Smuts would be prevented from reaching Australia. Mr. Bonar Law smilingly replied in the negative, and there was much laughter when Mr. Ronald McNeill inquired with mock seriousness whether there were any notices by which the people of Australia could be compelled to read it.

It was sorry to note that Mr. Patrick O'Brien, the popular Nationalist Whip, is suffering from almost complete loss of voice. When moving the writ for East Clare he had to go right up to the Speaker's chair, and not a word of his speech could be heard by the rest of the House. When Mr. Lowther, in putting the question, came to the words "in the event of Major William Hoey Kearney Redmond, died of wounds received in action," there was a respectful murmur of applause throughout the assembly.

On the Franchise Bill an attempt by Mr. Arnold Ward to get the question of female suffrage held over until a referendum had been taken upon it was declared to be out of order, the Chairman basing himself on a similar ruling given by the Speaker when the Home Rule Bill was before the House five years ago. THE FALL OF THE MARK.

THE MONEY MARKET AND GERMAN PROSPECTS.

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

There are numerous methods by which people judge of the progress of the enemy's finances in a war, but it must be confessed that most of them are untrustworthy. In the first place, the general public do not possess much really original information. General news comes through the newspapers, gathered by innumerable reporters from infinite sources and while, on the whole, it is probably substantially correct performance of a very difficult task, it is not infallible. Further, the fallibility of the person who is attempting to gauge the rate of progress has to be taken into account. Scientists say, "the personal equation" of the observer or commentator has to be taken into consideration in estimating the value of his opinion.

Perhaps the best test of the value of the enemy's hopes of victory is to watch the movements in the money market, to note the prices at which his funds stand, whether they are rising or falling, what offers are made, and what are accepted. All countries have their national debts, and if the price of the belligerent's national debt be high, it is a sign that the members of the money market are confident of his success and that he will be able to pay back as he borrows.

It may be readers who have never taken any interest in the money market acts, and who may never realised that the possession of it has anything to do with the progress of the war. It seems to depend largely on the numbers and character of the troops which they have trained, and the skill of their generals, but a little reflection will show that the influence of money is very great. Take, for instance, the "money-market," as we call it, of the Atlantic, and by the supporters of the Allies in Germany and Austria. The Congress have, with great promptitude, recorded, on the first day of their meeting, their approbation of the conduct of the Ministers who recommended the expulsion from Russia of M. Grimm. This is the member of the Swiss National Council who went to Petrograd, and telegraphed from thence, through the Swiss Legation, a request to the Chief of the Swiss Political Department to communicate with him upon the subject of peace. The Congress do not appear to have felt any doubt about the character of this proceeding. It amounted to a peace offer from Germany to Russia, and an assurance that Germany and her Allies would be ready to enter into peace negotiations with Russia's Allies "at their desire." The terms of the offer do not greatly matter. The interesting point is that this proposal should have been made, and that M. Hoffmann should have so far forgotten his elementary duties to Switzerland as to make it. He takes, of course, all responsibility upon himself, and declares that he was not influenced "from any quarter." These are amongst the points on which the Allies have the right to require the most searching investigation.

THE FUTURE OF RACING.

The Duke of Rutland writes to The Times:—If racing has to be held up for a year or two in England—Ireland is a law unto itself—cannot the millionaires, who now own the majority of the valuable sires—men like Lords Derby and Rosebery, the Messrs. Joel, and many others—continue to help the country by the use of these sires, and, if necessary, assist some of the smaller breeders? I do not believe that irreparable harm would be done to horse breeding if this were the case. Of one thing I am certain, which is, that it would be a benefit if the small gate-money meetings, whether flat or steeplechase ones, were temporarily abolished. And, while I am free to admit that the steps taken by the Government in this matter should have been adopted some time ago, and should not have been so abrupt in manner and procedure, still, should it be found expedient, in the larger interests of the country, to stop racing for this season or even longer, then the racing community should accept the Government's decision in the same loyal and uncomplaining manner as those who control other large business concerns have accepted the grave interference with, and, in some cases, suspension of, their affairs for the benefit of the nation at large.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

Stock markets were irregular in tone yesterday, with business rather inactive, says The Times. The Five per cent. War Loan was a shade lower, and the old War Loan rose further. Greek Bonds advanced further, and Brazilian Railway securities were firm. Royal Dutch recovered slightly. Iron and Steel and Broken Hill Shares showed strength.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

RESTRAINT OF PRINCES.

There will be general approval, says The Times, of the King's decision, which is announced this morning, to abolish the German titles held by members of his family. The King's action is wise and timely, for a reason which has no direct connection with the war. As matters stood, there was every likelihood of a very rapid increase in the number of his subjects to whom the courtesy titles of prince and princess were due. It was a prospect thoroughly uncongenial to the period and to the British character, while it detracted to some extent from the proper dignity of the head of the Constitution. Henceforth there will be a definite limit, with a wider application than the families of Teck and Battenberg, to the use of these Royal titles. In no case will they descend beyond the grandsons of the Sovereign. Their extinction is rendered automatic in each generation. The point is of some importance, in view of the very manifest public desire that the Royal House should be still more closely identified with British families, and we take the King's action as a sign that he, like his subjects, would gladly revert to an older tradition. Meanwhile, no one is likely to cavil at the effect British peerages which are announced as a consequence of the change.

THE RUSSIAN WORKMEN AND M. GRIMM.

The proceedings of the All-Russian Congress of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates, says The Times, which met on Saturday in Petrograd will be watched with deepest interest by the friends of ordered liberty on both sides of the Atlantic, and by the supporters of despotism in Germany and Austria. The Congress have, with great promptitude, recorded, on the first day of their meeting, their approbation of the conduct of the Ministers who recommended the expulsion from Russia of M. Grimm. This is the member of the Swiss National Council who went to Petrograd, and telegraphed from thence, through the Swiss Legation, a request to the Chief of the Swiss Political Department to communicate with him upon the subject of peace. The Congress do not appear to have felt any doubt about the character of this proceeding. WESTERN FIELD OF WAR.

BRITISH GAIN ON ARRAS FRONT.

PRISONERS TAKEN.

Last night's despatch from British Headquarters reports that our troops have gained some ground on the Cojeul River and north of the Souchez River. Some prisoners were taken.

Four German guns were captured by our troops in the operations of some days ago at Messines.

German counter-attacks on the French front in Champagne at Cornillet, with the object of regaining lost ground, were repulsed.

BRITISH OFFICIAL.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, FRANCE,
TUESDAY, 12.21 P.M.

Parties of our troops raided the enemy's positions last night south-east of Le Verguier and in the neighbourhood of the Bapaume-Cambrai road. Several of the enemy were killed, and his dug-outs were destroyed. We captured eleven prisoners.

9.30 P.M.

On the Arras battlefront our troops have gained ground slightly during the day south of the Cojeul River, and also north of the Souchez River, where we captured 35 prisoners.

In addition to the captures already reported four German field guns were taken by us east of Messines in the course of our recent advance in that area.

Valuable work was performed by our aeroplanes yesterday, in spite of unsettled weather. Bombs were dropped on an enemy dump, causing an explosion, and six German machines were brought down in air fighting. Three of our machines failed to return.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

Tuesday—In Champagne the artillery duel was violent between Mont Blond and Mont Cornillet. A strong German counter-attack on the positions which we conquered yesterday in this region was broken by our fire. The enemy sustained serious losses, and left more prisoners in our hands.

Enemy attempts on small posts to the north of St. Quentin and near the Calonne trench failed. There were hand-to-hand encounters in Parroy Forest. We took some prisoners, including one officer.

Tuesday Evening.—There is no event of importance to report beyond fairly extensive artillery activity on both sides in the Craonne region.

GERMAN OFFICIAL.

Tuesday.—Army Group of Crown Prince Rupprecht.—Artillery duels continue with varying intensity. Yesterday they were especially lively between Ecoivres and Berlincourt. To the east of Monchy our thrusting troops threw the English out of some trenches which remained in the hands of the enemy after the battles of June 14.

Army Group of the German Crown Prince.—The French again attempted at nightfall to recapture trenches which we took away from them recently to the north-west of Hurtebise Farm. Their twice repeated assault was repulsed. In Champagne the enemy penetrated yesterday morning, following strong artillery preparations, in a projecting part of our positions. An advance delivered in the evening, in order to extend his captures, failed with heavy losses of the enemy.

Army Group of Duke Albrecht.—There is nothing new to report.

Wednesday.—In Flanders and in the Champagne fighting activity revived at several points. Otherwise there is nothing new to report.

HEAT WAVE IN FRANCE.

France is at present passing through a period of tropical heat. The temperature yesterday afternoon (says a Paris telegram) and for several days past has been almost 90 degrees in the shade. The year 1905 has such heat been experienced in the month of June. The fact is that France has had no spring this year. From the exceptional cold which the winter sprang almost at once into the extreme heat of summer. However, if the rain comes soon the crops will not suffer overmuch. The vintage promises to be exceptionally good and abundant.

THE ITALIAN FRONT.

Italian Official.—On the night of the 18th the enemy succeeded in penetrating one of our minor advanced posts on the south-eastern slopes of Mount Raiberle. The position was immediately placed and kept under the effective fire of our batteries. Enemy detachments the same night made a surprise attack on our positions on Hill 219 (north-east of Adamello). They were repulsed with severe losses, and left ten prisoners in our hands. Artillery yesterday showed great activity on the Asiago plateau, and was desultory on the Carnia front.

Austrian Official.—In the Rombon section detachments of the Bosna-Herzegovina Infantry Regiment drove the enemy from a vantage point, capturing one officer and 28 men. They maintained the captured position after repeated attacks.

MACEDONIAN FRONT.

BRITISH WITHDRAWAL EXPLAINED.

The Secretary of the War Office makes the following announcement:—

Owing to the advent of the malarial season, our troops east of the Struma have been somewhat withdrawn. Our patrols are active on the east bank, and have cleared Homondos, Jeni, Koj, Cuculuk, Cavdarnah, Ilisam, and Hazna-tar, which small detachments had occupied. The ground evacuated by us is completely dominated by our positions on the hills west of the river. Our aircraft have bombed Porna and Yambalcoi, east of Seres, and have been active south of Demihissar, and Styrach, thirteen miles north-north-east of Petrie. British detachments are participating in the occupation of Thessaly and the Piraeus.

French Official.—Our artillery has vigorously countered the enemy artillery in the region of Monastir. In Thessaly our troops have attacked the Dol de Furka, on the Othrys Mountains (southern limit of Thessaly). They hold important points. A considerable quantity of munitions have been given up by the population.

GERMAN BANKS SOLD.

The premises of three leading German banks in the City of London were purchased yesterday afternoon by English banking companies. At the Winchester House sale by Debenham, Bank, after spirited bidding, passed into the hands of Messrs. Barclay's, of Lombard street, at £200,000 the premises of the Disconto Gesellschaft were secured by Lloyd's for £38,000, and the Dresdner Bank was purchased by the London City and Midland Bank for £12,000.

STATE OF DUBLIN LAST NIGHT.

There was a marked falling off in the evidences of popular excitement on the streets of Dublin last night. The procession of youths and girls carrying Sinn Fein flags were smaller and less noisy. A crowd numbering upwards of 2,000 assembled in front of the ruined G.P.O. buildings at about 9 p.m., and there was cheering and singing of rebel songs. Shortly before 10 o'clock a figure was seen to emerge on the pampas on the Prince's street side of the G.P.O. and run along towards Sackville-street corner, where a Sinn Fein flag had been fixed the previous night at the spot where a similar emblem hung during the rebellion week. The man, who was greeted with cheers by the crowd, busied himself for some time in adjusting the flag to his satisfaction, and then returned to the street by the same route as he had ascended. The second Sinn Fein flag was still floating last night above the upraised arm of the figure surmounting the centre of the portico. A number of youths also effected an entrance to the ruins of the Coliseum Theatre from Henry street, and some of them were subsequently seen clambering about the top of the walls. A number of the palings around ruined buildings in the Sackville street area were again torn down by a section of the crowd, who used them to make a bonfire in front of the G.P.O., and the bonfire was still burning for a considerable time after midnight. A crowd of a couple of hundred youths went in procession, carrying pieces of timber with them, across O'Connell Bridge, and proceeded via Grafton street to St. Stephen's Green, where they cheered and sang rebel songs in front of the College of Surgeons. They used the timber to light a bonfire opposite the College on the park side of the thoroughfare, and replenished their supply of fuel from the wood upon which recruiting posters were displayed on the park railings. Close on midnight Inspector Barrett, D.M.P., with a party of police from Brunswick street Station, arrived at St. Stephen's Green. The inspector appealed to the crowd to disperse quietly, and the request was received with cheers, and the crowd marched round the Green and down Grafton street, proceeding across O'Connell Bridge, and then dispersed quietly. A crowd of youths carrying palings was earlier in the night dispersed in Great Brunswick street by a force of police under Chief Superintendent Dunne and Inspector Barrett without any exercise of force. No arrests were made by the police last night in connection with these Sinn Fein rejoicings.

CANADA AND THE WAR.

COMPULSORY SERVICE BILL.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER'S ATTITUDE.

A Reuter's Ottawa telegram, dated Monday, says:—

In the House of Commons the debate on the second reading of the Compulsory Service Bill was begun to-day before a full attendance of members and crowded galleries.

Sir Robert Borden (Premier), on rising to move the second reading, was heartily cheered. He emphasised that no new principle was involved, the bill being on the same lines of universal service as were contained in the Militia Act since the Confederation, except that it was based on the principle of selection. It was estimated, the Premier added, that there were in Canada 760,000 unmarried men and 820,000 married men, a total of 1,580,000 between the ages of 20 and 45, and that between the ages of 20 and 34 there were 630,000 single men. He commended the bill to this House as designed to do justice to all classes of citizens, and to provide the necessary reinforcements for the men at the front.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier promised to approach the consideration of the bill with moderation and fairness. He declared that Sir Robert Borden, when introducing the measure last January to increase Canada's Force to half a million, promised there would be no conscription, and added, had the Government announced the policy of conscription last year, an extension of the term of Parliament would not have been agreed to, and, therefore, this moribund Parliament, this rump Parliament, was dealing unfairly with the people of Canada. Sir Wilfrid Laurier concluded by moving an amendment declaring for a referendum on conscription.

Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, replying to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, said that in all Sir Wilfrid's eloquent speeches bidding God-speed to soldiers departing from Canada there was the pledge implied that the country would support them to the final issue, and not that there should be a referendum as to furnishing of reinforcements. Sir George then proceeded to quote the Military Act to show that it provided for compulsory service outside of Canada if necessary, for the defence of the country "against invasion or the danger of invasion." The United States, he added, with its 110 millions of population after nearly three years of patient looking into all conditions and perils involved had decided that it was their duty to defend their country, and its liberty and ideals by sending their army and navy to the seat of war to co-operate with the other Allies, yet Sir Wilfrid Laurier would not let the Militia stir hand or foot until the Huns, victorious in Europe, landed in Canada. Voluntary enlistment had failed, even in Great Britain, so it had failed in Canada to meet the continued stress of war and the call for more men. Sir George added—My right hon. friend makes much of the conscription issue to divide the people who are determined to do their share in the balance, and who went out with our plaudits to do what?—to flash a temporary spark of heroism—and then disappear? A record which would reflect credit upon Canada. Shall we not make the contract good so that when they fall something effective shall be done to guarantee that their heroic sacrifice has not been in vain? The necessity is upon us, and we must act. Already people are saying "Keep quiet: Laurier has this in hand. He will never let you be conscripted," and Sir Wilfrid Laurier's attitude to-day is tantamount to telling them to vote "No" on a referendum.

COTTON AT 19½D. PER POUND.

THREE TIMES THE PRE-WAR PRICE.

A Manchester correspondent telegraphs:—Manchester Royal Exchange yesterday faced the unprecedented experience of a rise of three-halfpence a pound in the price of American cotton, making an advance in the last five weeks of 6½d. per pound, and increasing the cost to 1s. 7½d. per pound three times the amount at which it stood at the outbreak of the war. The effect of the rise was to bring business to a standstill. The only suggested remedy of practical nature was that, as those engaged in the trade have been unable to agree among themselves to the curtailment of production, the Government should step in and curtail output. Among the causes which have brought about the ruinous decrees of the staple are, chiefly, the reduced acreage and the late planting of the crop which is now growing, and the increased consumption of the American mills; but the operations of speculators can by no means be dismissed from calculation.

CENTRAL AMERICAN REPUBLICS AND GERMANY.

Reuter's Agency is informed that, according to a telegram received yesterday from Haiti, the German Government has refused to pay compensation for the loss of life or damage to property caused in Haiti as a result of Germany's submarine campaign. In consequence, the Haitian Government has now formally severed diplomatic relations with Germany.

The Republic of Uruguay has decided to declare that Uruguay will not regard as a belligerent any country of America which may be in conflict with nations of another Continent.

Advices from San Salvador received in Paris report that in consequence of German intrigues in Central America the Governments of San Salvador and Costa Rica have adopted special measures against such machinations. The rupture of diplomatic relations between those two Republics and Germany will shortly be announced.

THE IRISH CONVENTION.

ACTION OF ROMAN CATHOLIC HIERARCHY.

FOUR BISHOPS NOMINATED.

The annual meeting of the members of the Roman Catholic Hierarchy was held yesterday in Maynooth College, under the presidency of Cardinal Logue. There were present:—

Cardinal Logue read a letter which he had received from the Prime Minister, inviting him to nominate four bishops to represent the London City and Midland Bank for £12,000. Roman Catholic Church in Ireland at the National Convention.

It was unanimously agreed to accept the Prime Minister's invitation, and four bishops were selected whose names will be sent forward to the Prime Minister for appointment.

With the exception of Archbishop Healy and Dr. Mangan, Bishop of Kerry, who were prevented by illness, all the bishops of the Roman Catholic Church in Ireland were present.

THE GOVERNMENT AND RACING.

It is stated to be practically certain, says our London Correspondent, that when the Prime Minister meets the Jockey Club, probably on Thursday instead of to-day, it will be found that a favourable decision with regard to racing has been come to. One of the reasons why the deputation is not to be received to-day is that the Government want time to weigh the proposals which have been put forward by the Parliamentary Horse-Breeding Committee, and there is no question now as to the stoppage of betting. Mr. T. London, M.P., who had a long interview yesterday with Lord Derby, tells me that a prominent official approached him and suggested that racing should be carried on without betting. His reply was that they would carry on racing in the past, and that the question of the pari-mutuel was one that should be settled by the Irish Parliament.

FOUR MONTHS' SEASON PROBABLE.

Without being able to announce it as certain, the Sportsman received late last night from a well-informed source the news that a resumption of racing has practically been decided upon. Our information is to the effect that a start will be made about the middle of July, that it will be confined to Newmarket, and that there will be three days' racing every fortnight for a period extending over four months.

THE HONOUR FOR DUBLIN'S LATE LORD MAYOR.

Last night's London Gazette contained the following:—

Whitehall, June 15th, 1917.

The King was pleased on Wednesday, the 25th April last, at Buckingham Palace, to confer the honour of Knighthood upon Ernest M. Clarke, Esq., Director, Motor Ambulance Department, British Red Cross Society, and James Gallagher, Esq., late Lord Mayor of Dublin (to take effect as from the 21st February, 1917).

ALLIES AND GREECE.

STORY OF GERMAN INFLUENCES.

GENERAL SARRAIL'S DIFFICULTIES.

M. G. de Maizière, writing in the Petit Parisien, supplies, says a Paris telegram, interesting information regarding events in Greece during 1915. He shows that successive Greek Governments were firmly resolved to oppose the legitimate demands of General Sarrail and that King Constantine was equally firmly resolved to listen to no demands made by the Allies. Everything that was not permitted to be said in France was proclaimed in Athens. Thus on November 23rd, 1915, a report was current that the French Government, weary of so many Notes and ultimatums, had decided to act vigorously at the express request of General Sarrail, and that a naval squadron, then at Milo, had received orders to come and make demonstration at Salamis. The following day established the truth of the report. M. Guillemin and Sir Francis Elliott, the French and British Ministers respectively, did not deny that the arrival of the squadron was possible.

Monsignor Petit, Archbishop of Athens, told M. Maizière that General Sarrail alone saw clearly that with people like the King and his servitors talking war "mere waste of time." The priest shared the opinion of the soldier. On November 26th M. de Maizière saw Prince Demidoff, the Russian Minister. Immediately the mystery was explained. The squadron announced would not come. Disguising under a frivolous air the attitude which his Government obliged him to adopt, the Prince observed smiling. Russia was defending Greece and her King. The Prince was devoting his attention to Greek ladies.

On November 27th an officer, who arrived from Salonika, reported General Sarrail as having said: "I am in a most difficult position. I feel that in France, where the public is badly informed, something is expected of me which I cannot do. Under any pretext I will not expose the lives of my men without having surrounded myself with all the necessary precautions. It is vain to begin a military operation without having taken into account not only the possibility of defeat, but even of a partial failure. I cannot risk the least check, even a momentary one, for there is no going back. Let my troops take a step to the rear, and they are in the sea or engaged with a Greek Army, all ready to open fire upon them in the rear. Let me be delivered from Greece or only from her liberty and ideals by sending their army and navy to the seat of war to co-operate with the other Allies, yet Sir Wilfrid Laurier would not let the Militia stir hand or foot until the Huns, victorious in Europe, landed in Canada. Voluntary enlistment had failed, even in Great Britain, so it had failed in Canada to meet the continued stress of war and the call for more men. Sir George added—My right hon. friend makes much of the suggested cleavages and possible dissensions regarding Constitutional principles; but is there no implied contract in the sacrifice and consecration of 400,000 of our people who are prepared to lives in the balance, and who went out with our plaudits to do what?—to flash a temporary spark of heroism—and then disappear? A record which would reflect credit upon Canada. Shall we not make the contract good so that when they fall something effective shall be done to guarantee that their heroic sacrifice has not been in vain? The necessity is upon us, and we must act. Already people are saying "Keep quiet: Laurier has this in hand. PARLIAMENT.

ment was caused by the spectacle of Major Hunt wandering about the floor of the House trying to find a teller against the motion.

Sir FREDERICK BANBURY declined the honour, and Major Hunt was jokingly advised to try the Attorney-General. He secured, eventually, an ally in Commander Bellairs, and the Committee divided.

The Closure was carried by 363 to 23.

The Committee then divided on the amendment, and it was negatived by 385 to 85.

The figures were received with loud cheers.

Progress was then reported, and the debate was adjourned.

THE UNITED STATES AND GREECE.

Mr. BALFOUR, who was loudly cheered on entering the House, and again on rising to reply to questions, informed Mr. Lynch that the United States were not consulted in regard to the solution of the Balkan problem by the deposition of King Constantine and the nomination of his son as King.

Mr. KING—Would it not be well to associate America in these acts, because it might have an influence on the war itself.

No reply was made.

THE MISSION TO AMERICA.

Mr. BALFOUR—I do not think I could usefully add anything to what has already appeared in the Press. I should, however, like to take this opportunity of again expressing to the Government and people of the United States my warmest thanks for the very cordial welcome and great hospitality they were kind enough to accord to myself and the other members of the Mission. (Cheers.)

Mr. KING asked whether the right hon. gentleman was not aware that an elaborate statement was made by M. Viviani in the French Chamber, and would he consider, at any rate, whether something similar could not be vouchsafed to the House.

Mr. BALFOUR—I do not see any reason for reconsidering this question. This was a mission to the United States. Missions have often been absent before to other States, and it has been the custom to make any special statement on the subject. I greatly doubt whether that custom were abrogated on this particular occasion, I could really add anything to ask the public thoroughly understand already through the very full accounts that have appeared in the American and the British Press. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. GINNELL—Then the policy of trusting the people is definitely abandoned.

Mr. SWIFT MacNEILL—Is the right hon. gentleman aware that we are all anxious to hear him on any subject.

Mr. BALFOUR—The information appears in the Press. The hon. gentleman (Mr. Ginnell) appears to think that the people are not trustworthy. I fail to follow the force of that argument.

FINANCIAL NEWS

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

BREWERIES AND DISTILLERIES ACTIVE AND BUOYANT. DUNLOPS MUCH BETTER IN TONE AND PRICE.

DUBLIN, TUESDAY EVENING.

General business on 'Change to-day was fair in most directions, with a number of price movements of interest, and perhaps of importance, outside the actual change established. Funds were erratically disposed with a fall of ½ in Irish Land 2½ p.c., and a rise of 1 in Guaranteed 2½ p.c. Land Stock. War Loans fluctuated, with most of the stocks easy in tone.

The only visible effect of the proposed Bank amalgamation was a rise of ¼ in Royals, and ⅛ in Nationals. Bank Stock and New Provincials show no change, and Munster and Leinsters closed bid for, with sellers looking for ¼ advance.

Rather marked business activity developed in Breweries and Distilleries, with prices generally strong. Guinness Ord. rose ¼ to 24¼. Castlebellingham and Drogheda 4½ p.c. Debs. rose 6 to 50 bid on report rumours. Dublin Distillers were bought very freely on call. The Ord. rose 1s. to 23s., after all offered less were absorbed, while the Pref. sharply recovered 1s. 6d. to 79s. 6d.

City of Dublin Stock realised 47 x.d., and the Pref. 67 x.d., the latter a fall of 1.

Marconi Ord. fell 3d. to 6¼s. 3d., the Pref. 6d. to 5⅝. (d., and Americans 1¼d. to 16s. Canadians again fetched 4¾.

Home Rails were steady. Great Southern Ord was again higher.

The Dunlop market brightened up, as expected, prior to next Friday's meeting, and some confident buying was indulged in at recovering prices. Parent Ord., which were only about 2⅜. 6d. yesterday, unofficially quoted 6d. higher at 2⅝. or 2s., and later all offered up to 2⅝. 9d. were absorbed. The Def. repeated 33s. 6d., and were in demand, while the Pref. rallied 1½d. to 15s 9d. Dunlop Rubber Ord. rose 6d. to 6⅝. 6d., but the "A" Pref. gave way 6d. to 2⅝. 6d., and the 6½ p.c. 3⅛. to 19s. 9d.

Textiles were generally firm, but featureless. Calicos were quoted 12½ better. Coated 6d. on some exceptional dealing. Burke Ord. were 3d. lower at 66s. for a broken lot. The Debs. were held for 7½, an advance of ½.

LONDON MONEY MARKET.

Bank Rate (changed April 5) ..... 5 p.c.

The action of the Treasury in absolutely weekly sales of Treasury bills by tender, and reverting to the previous practice of daily sales at fixed rates has rather taken the Money Market by surprise, though the desirability of the step has been on the cards for some time past. The central institution yesterday announced that three and six months' Treasury bills would be offered at 4½ per cent. Applications for the present yearlies are not on sale. Simultaneously the Bank of England has lowered the rate which it is prepared to pay for deposits from the Banks from 4½ to 4 per cent., with the obvious intention to encourage the transfer of the balances from the Discount Market was unsettled, with lower rates prevalent. Open market rates for second-class bills were 4⅜ per cent. nominal. There was a rather keen demand for prime bank bills, and the Bank of England came in as a buyer at 4⅜ per cent. Short inland bills were unchanged at 4½ per cent., respectively. Call money ranged between 4 and 5 per cent., with a weekly average of 4½ per cent. The New York exchange was steady at 4.76½ to 4.76¾.

THE DUBLIN WHISKEY DISTILLERS COMPANY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—It has been interesting to watch the steady rise in the price of shares in the above Company for the last couple of years. This has been attributed, and I believe rightly, to the ability of the present Chairman and Board of Directors, and to the remarkable rise in the price of whiskey, due to the Government restrictions on the distilling industry.

It has been confidently stated by those in the know that the present value of whiskey in stock, at the present market price, is somewhat over a million pounds, to say nothing of the value attached to the Company's large property holdings in Dublin. The capital of the Company—70,000 Ordinary and 60,000 Preference Shares at £5 each, together with a £350,000 Debenture Stock—totals exactly one million pounds. It is well known that the Company has bought and cancelled about £80,000 of the Debenture Stock, and the recent circular to the Debenture holders offering to buy all the Debentures at a certain price shows the excellent position in which the Company stands. The constant buying of shares by certain groups well known in the Stock Exchange has led to the belief that these gentlemen, when they have acquired a controlling influence in the Company, mean to call for its dissolution and the return of the whole capital to the shareholders, which would give to every shareholder, Ordinary and Preference, at the very lowest £5 for each share held. The argument advanced in favour of this mode of acting is that, if the Company now winds up, every shareholder, owing to the present price of whiskey, will get £5 for every share he holds.

The war may come to a close sooner than is expected, when distilling will commence again throughout the country, and in a short time the price of whiskey is bound to drop considerably. Moreover, the Government may, any day, take over the whole stock, in which case I fear the Company would not be likely to receive the full market price.

If the business men who have acquired so large a control of the Company's capital really intend to move its dissolution and the repayment of the capital in full, I do not see that we small holders should oppose them, for it would immediately raise the price of our shares from 21s. and 79s. respectively, as they stand to-day, to the value of at least £5 each. That the Debenture holders would agree goes without saying, for, instead of the present market price, they would get in full a difference of nearly £30 on every £100 Stock.

I may be told that the directors would oppose this idea, but I am sure they would be quite prepared to forfeit their fees, especially as there would be an ample margin from which to pay the manager, secretary, and employés a substantial bonus. In any case, it is a question for the majority of the shareholders to decide for themselves.—Yours, etc.,

SMALL HOLDER.

MARKET REPORTS.

GRAIN.

DUBLIN CORN EXCHANGE, June 19.—Reports in the main from provincial sources still give exceedingly satisfactory accounts of growing crops, and prospects on the whole are encouraging. With regard to the grain markets, the position throughout remains much as previously reported, matters being confined to a quiet routine so far as Cisunmieron offers allow, with values in all positions nominally firm inside of control terms. The only items of keen interest worthy of notice are the arrival of Pacific wheat, which is going into store on Government reserve, whilst another cargo of Manitoba wheat is clearing into distribution amongst millers, part of a cargo of Californian barley, too, is being distributed for consumption. The drain in the maize supply has been eased for the moment by a further arrival of River Plate, per s. cesatting steamer from Avonmouth, and which is at present discharging. As before stated, some further consignments of American mixed corn are due, and coming on shortly. Per Corn Exchange to-day was of much the same casual character as yesterday; the attendance very small, and matters pervaded by an idle atmosphere.

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES—BALTIC, Tuesday. WHEAT nearly nominal in the absence of official offers to London, and prices unaltered. MAIZE reservedly offered, while held for full values. Parcels of 5 Plate 8pt African on passage quoted 80/-, yellow 78/6. Plate 8pt, No. 2 American mixed 70/-. No. 3 Ja Plata do. 70/-. No. 2 American mixed 70/-. No. 3 do. 69/-, with mixed or slin dried 5/- more. BARLEY and OATS—No sellers.

LIVERPOOL, Tuesday.—There were fairly liberal offerings of cif. parcels of wheat to-day, but inquiry operated cautiously at about late prices. Maize quietly steady and unaltered. WHEAT on the spot ruled steady at recent currencies, with a moderate inquiry. MAIZE—Spot parcels more or less nominal owing to the lack of offerings. FLOUR steady and in fair request at about late rates. BRANS firm and the turn dearer. PEAS barely steady and 6d. to 1/- higher on material alterations. BEANS steady and unchanged. WHEAT CARGOES continued neglected and nominal. Parcels were fairly offered, but less pressing No. 3 Manitoba afloat at 79/-. No. 4 do. 76/-. No. 5 72/-. No. 2 white winter 81/-. No. 2 red Western winter 78/-. No. 2 hard winter 79/-. and No. 3 mixed winter 77/6 per qr. MAIZE CARGOES remained inactive. In parcels, No. 2 American mixed afloat sold at 69/- per qr.

"On rail at Leith.

NEWCASTLE, June 19.—Market thinly attended. Trade for all descriptions of grain almost at a standstill. Prime wheat was 89/- per quarter; Indian and Manitoba, 89/- to 90/-; foreign oats were 73/-, and G.R. flour 52/6; beans were dearer, and have advanced several shillings per quarter; they were quoted 103/- to 108/-.

CATTLE.

LEEDS, June 19.—Prices were slightly easier than last week, and there was a rather bother show of both beef and mutton, though trade was slow and dragging. Cattle made up to 1.4 per lb.; sheep, 1/5 to 1/6, and lambs, 1/6 to 1/7.

BIRMINGHAM, June 19.—Pigs were in smaller supply, more inquiry, and trade somewhat improved, changed at 24/6 per score; cutters were 1/- down at 23/6, and sows 2/- down at 21/6. A small supply of lambs fetched 1/8 to 1/9 per lb.

SALFORD, Tuesday.—Rather more fat cattle on offer, but not very few finished beasts. Trade slow for all classes, prices being rather lower, except for the best quality, which about maintained late rates. A few polled Scots and the best shorthorns made 1/5 to 1/5½; secondary sorts 1/4 to 1/4½; coarse and inferior 1/1 to 1/2, and rough beasts 9½d. to 10½d. per lb. Prime quality sheep were scarce and dearer, 1/6 to 1/7 per lb., while heavies made 1/5 to 1/6, and ewes 1/1 to 1/3½ per lb. All these prices showing a reduction of 1/- to 2/- per cwt. Good supplies of Irish and Welsh lambs, and trade very slow at late rates, Welsh making 1/6 to 1/7, best Irish 1/5½ to 1/6½, and rough heavy sorts 1/4 to 1
